If she will do this for a year she will have developed a set of muscles which will be better than any corset she will ever wear.

LAUNCH BIG PAY TRIBUTE PLANE CARRIER TO CATHOLICS

Craft Will Have 180,000 Horsepower and Make 33 to 34 Miles Per Hour When Commissioned.

Camden, N. J., April 7.—Launching of the giant airplane carrier Saratoga at the yards of the New York Shipbuilding Corporation took place today with Mrs. Curtis D. Wilbur, wife of the secretary of the navy, sponsor at the christening ceremonies.

The Saratoga was launched at the New York Shipbuilding Corporation's yards at 1:18 p.m. As the newest addition to the navy, she is being fully slid into the Delaware river, the mother of warships, Mrs. Curtis D. Wilbur, wife of the secretary of the navy, gave the great ship her name.

A sister ship, the U. S. S. Lexington is to be launched this fall at Quincy, Mass. Originally these two vessels were to have been battle cruisers but under the arms limitations treaty they were converted into airplane carriers.

When completed and commissioned late in 1926 the Saratoga will be the largest and fastest craft of its kind in the world and the longest naval vessel of any kind in the world.

The huge, queer looking craft will carry 180,000 horsepower to give her 33 to 34 knot speed she needs. Her dynamo would furnish all the electricity needed by an city of nearly 1,000,000 population for light, heat, cooking, street cars and nearly every other purpose; her mighty steam turbines are to drive her at 100 knots.

Designed as an aircraft transport, however, the Saratoga will be one of the strangest in appearance that has ever gone down to the sea. All the torpedo launchers are to be on one side of that deck will be the reduced compass of her stacks, a crumpled navigating bridge, and a stump mast to rear wireless aerials aloft.

But in the 32 heavy bombers and 40 combat and other types of aircraft designed to clear the air from the decks of the big craft, the Saratoga will carry a potential destructive force far greater than would have been the power of her guns if she had enough explosives in reserve to equip the airships after they have dropped charges that would wreck a city.

Montevideo, April 6.—(AP)—A trial of the evangelistic and social service efforts of the Roman Catholic church in South America was part of Bishop Francis J. McCormick, resident bishop of the Pittsburgh area of the Methodist Episcopal church, in a report prepared by the Commission on Church and Community for presentation to the Congress on "Christian Work in South America."

The Roman Catholic Church, which is the "Christian organization which from the commencement of the first century of the Latin American countries, doubtless had not in its mind the embracingly social duty which is simplicity in the ideal of the Kingdom of God on earth.

"Neither did the church of the reformers conceive this, for it is a modern ideal, the fruitage of the studies due to the progressive discovery of the world with its animated primitive Christianity.

"Nevertheless, the Roman Catholic church in Latin America has done a very appreciable work in the sense of forcing the character of the people, especially by means of its teaching establishments its moral influence being particularly appreciable among women.

"The Roman Catholic church has labored in favor of the civilization and Christianization of the wild peoples (primitive races) and of the uncivilized negroes, although in countries such as Peru and Bolivia, the uncivilized today has been precarious, and even today leaves much to be desired.

"In these latter days, the Catholic church has taken on a social outlook. It produced, in the last century, such men as Lamennais, Graty and Pope Leo XIII. In Argentina, as in Chile, this tendency is opening a path today with men such as Edwards, de Andrea, Francheschi.

"From a recognition of these points, the organizations affiliated with the Commission on 'Christian Work in Latin America' should be able to deduce the best chance of advancing Christianity in these countries, will be found in assisting to intensify the social and moral drift of the Roman Catholic church, which is the spiritual power of the greatest traditional prestige at work in these countries.

"Such a work of real cooperation can be carried on in Latin America aided by Latin Americans.

Martha Lum is not a member of the negro race nor has she any mixed blood, the petition asserts, but she is a native Chinese citizen by descent.

The board of trustees of the Consolidated High School, at Hattiesburg, Mississippi, has denied the right of Martha Lum to attend school on account of her Chinese descent.

The state is basing its argument on Section 207 of the Constitution of Mississippi which provides that separate schools be maintained for the white and colored races. It is contended that the State Supreme Court in the case of Moreau vs. Grand ruled, "The word white defined means white or Caucasian race."

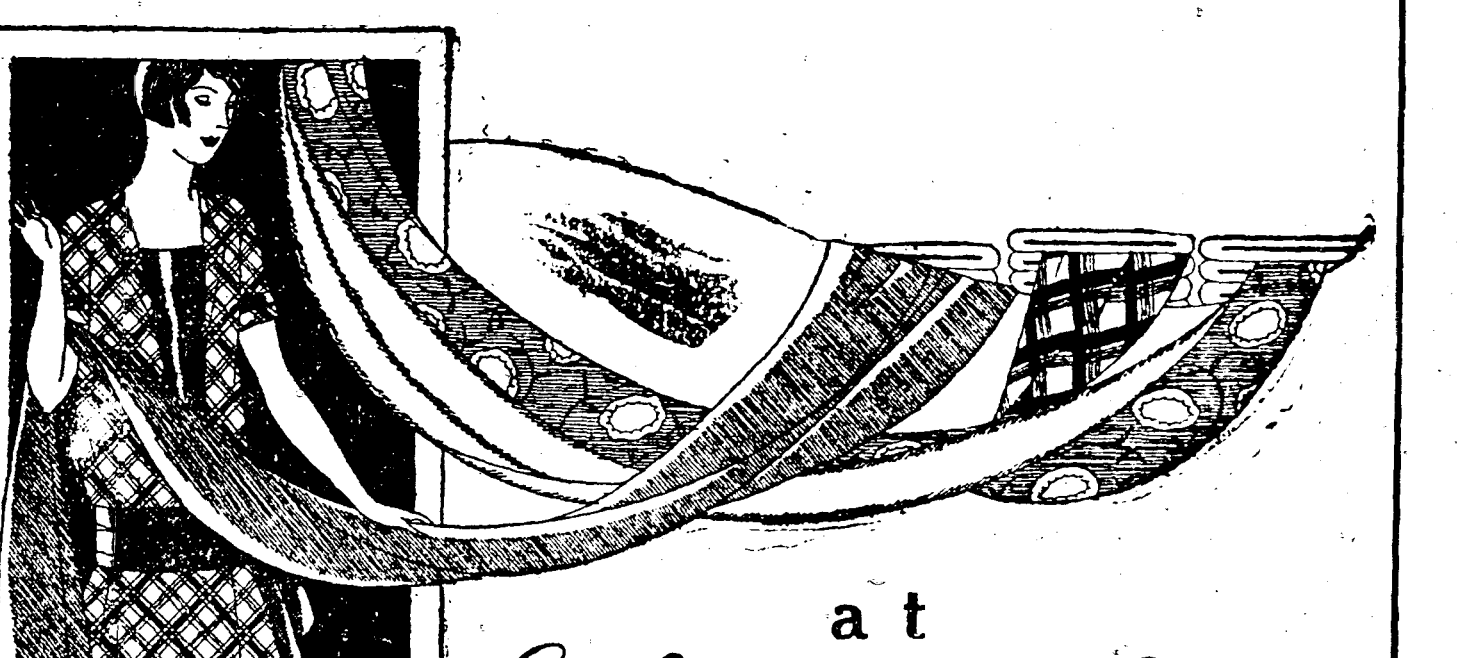

The state further contends that the Chinese are classified by the statutes in the same category as the negroes by Section 3244 of the Code of 1906 which provides for separate schools for a white person and a negro or mulatto or a person with one-eighth or more of negro blood or the marriage of a white person with a Mongolian or a person with one-eighth or more of Mongolian blood. Such marriages are unlawful and void.

This is the first case of the nature ever to be brought to the courts of Mississippi and it is believed that there has been no case similar to this one ever brought in the courts of the United States.

In 1920, it is explained, a ruling on this issue was sought from the attorney general of Mississippi, who advised that the Chinese were not entitled to attend the white schools of the state.

E. C. Sharp of Booneville, former assistant attorney general, represents the state in this case, and Brewer, Brewer & McGee of Clarksdale and Flowers, Brown & Hester of Jackson are attorneys for the defense.
